FOUR MEET DEATH, ONE HUNDRED IN PANIC AS FIRE SWEEPS HOTE

Frantic Guests of the Belmont in Denver, Trapped by Flames Started by Incendiary, Plunge from Windows in Fight for Life.

diary blaze that rapidly doomed the Belmont Hotel at No. 1723 Stout street early to-day.

So quickly did the flames spread after the firebug applied the torch that one hundred guests in the house, all in bed at the time, awakaned to the firebug applied the torch that one hundred guests in the house, all in bed at the time, awakaned to the four $1,000 contributors, is composed of Henry Grashorn, the hustling president of the Carnival Ashustling preside to find themselves trapped. The flames seemed to come from top and least, Ida Rooinson, the designer and bottom, and the only means of escape was by the windows. To these coryphees and other pretty things in the people flocked in panic, and more than a score had leaped to the lace and gauze who will people the street or adoining roofs before the firemen arrived.

Many others were carried down ladders or dropped into life nets. while one fireman caught ten in his arms as they made the leap.

Among the guests in the hotel were several invalids who had come to Denver in search of health, and the plight of these was an especially pathetic incident of the fire.

Several heroic rescues were observed by a crowd of more than a thousand speciators who stood in the street watching the blaze.

Patrick Treadwell, a fireman of Cripple Creek, Col., who was stopping in the Belmont when the fire started, saved at least ten lives by inducing entrapped guests to jump from the upper story windows across a five-foot aliey to the roof of an adjoining building and catching them in his arms.

In the opinion of officials of the Fre Department the hotel was set aftre and a rigid investigation is being made.

Within the last week half a dozen small fires, believed to have been of incendiary origin, have occurred in rooming houses in this city.

It was at first thought that the blaze in the Belmont was caused by defective wires on the third floor, but investigation the bottom as well as the top, and this sustains the theory that an incendary years the could say he had $50,000.
